followmd !Twitter Follow Limits

There is a limit to how many accounts you can follow on Twitter. It was finally documented in this [official help doc explanation from the service, and was known only to those of us who'd actually encountered it.

Here's what happens when I try to follow a new account from @NeoYokel:

mon I have pulled a lot of stupid stunts in bars, though I've yet to be physically struck in one, despite some very persistent other parties, and I'm proud of the fact. I'm not going to tell to you that you shouldn't enjoy a good bar fight – especia violence that may otherwise manifest in less-than-consensual, more malicious activities – but otherwise, be aware that Yokels can be talked down from even the Most Bothered of dispositions with intelligently-applied finesse, should you ca alternatively.

Of course, one would do best not to allow himself and his own designed influence over his outward image and subsequ biome to become rampant and/or obsessive patronization. By nature, such a pursuit will only metamorphose into a slo inclination which terminates singularly into the oxymoronic undoing of itself. A preoccupation with the petty maneuvers tends to rapidly illuminate one's weaknesses like a psychosexual flare gun. Granted – in their shared abuse of amphetamines, cocaine, and assorted other stimulants – Lenny Lather was vastly m than any circadian guest could've possibly been. At first, the ten-foot door of his dawn-facing room had closed without warmth and moisture brought with the Midwestern Spring, the most secure state in which the engorged wood could be half-inch crack, and Lather's last chance of privacy was lost.

The latest favorite pastime of Nice, Big's Master necessitated a willing, capable driver, and – as keeping a single Butl household staff) was proving extremely difficult for him – Lenny Lather was the sole pick of the draft. In the earliest ho in February, he'd been pleasantly dosing and drooling on his laptop after an evening of obsessive, incoherent notetakin been kicked ajar by a deep black, blindingly shiny oxford with excessively violent force. Attached to the shoe in an equa towering bowler hat, and cartoonish fake mustache was the Great, Blown Pith.

"Hope you're not busy," he'd said quite loudly to the lolling Lather, leaning and tilting his head into the lamp light, which and briefly occupied him with untangling its chain.

"You're not busy, are ya?!" he'd shouted, tapping the shiny brass lion's head of his shiny black cane against the vanit flicking wrist… then clubbing it with a full, two-handed homerun swing – taking huge, vaguely cat nose-shaped gouges wood. The splintery wood chips had rained down upon the hunched Lenny; he'd stirred with one found its way in his op decencies like his guest's nighttime peace.

"SHOOT, LENNY," he'd screamed in his companion's ear, having traversed the room to his bedside.

"I SURE HOPE YOU'RE NOT BUSY RIGHT NOW!"

Finally, he'd resorted to tickling Lenny's nose with the ornament, which had reeked with the urinal smell of metal polish

"Just wait… you have no idea… you have no idea how much fun this is going to be."

Lenny Lather had not… could not have made a sound through the confusing nonsense of his waking pre-Great Depre old servant's door had been opened before him and set the heartless, single-digit Winter wind upon his very soul, he ha

"Jesus Christ!" he'd screamed as they'd hobbled to the stable, where a devilishly dark red Model J Duesenberg had s staring out the retrofitted garage door with its basketball-sized lights as if it was, indeed, a flesh-and-blood steed that h to remove the license plate – which had said BLOOD in big black bold block letters – and its containing frame. By the frigid red leather of the exposed, roofless driver's seat, Lenny Lather was full-to-bursting with adrenaline and laughing steam. From behind him in the cabin, Pith had been guffawing plumes, too, as he'd briefly ignited his cocaine-sprinkl bratwurst-sized cigar between his teeth. The smell of burning human hair had accented his explanation of the old car's path from source-to-nose for Pith had required a brief, unplanned intermission as it induced without warning his violent guffawing – hanging half out of his beautifully-upholstered suicide door.

As he had spewed – expertly sparing the swoop of the gleaming waxy fender – Lenny had found a pair of deep black, b after less grinding than you would imagine, to his credit – first gear, setting the whole dastardly circus in motion.

"Where to, Sire?" Lenny had asked, nose lifted to an untenable altitude in a pitiful approximation of an accent that'd ne

"Left at the gates, Barnsward, old chap," Theodore had replied in a contrasting fashion after again sitting upright from h

"Man, come on," the defeated Leather had yelled halfheartedly from his pile of sweets, struggling against the awkwa colossus Not like the brazen giant of Greek fame,

With conquering limbs astride from land to land;
Here at our sea-washed, sunset gates shall stand
A mighty woman with a torch, whose flame
Is the imprisoned lightning, and her name
Mother of Exiles. From her beacon-hand
Glows world-wide welcome; her mild eyes command
The air-bridged harbor that twin cities frame.
"Keep, ancient lands, your storied pomp!" cries she
With silent lips. "Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"
